clause is inserted based upon available knowledge as to each individual's specific quarters problem. If we know that quarters will be provided, we so state; as in 43a. If a military detail will be handled administratively by we make no reference of his quarters situation in his Letter of Authorisation (e.g. 43c). If the using component does not know whether a detailed military individual will or will not be provided quarters overseas but the feeling is that he probably will not, we fall back on the "iffy" provision set forth in 43 (d). We would like nothing better than to be able to apply standard quarters terminonegy to all military details serving overseas in a given area, but as administrative processes may differ as to these individuals, our approach—language—wise—must, of necessity, be flexible enough to cover any factual pattern presented to us.
